Elexicon Energy Suspends All Non-Essential Planned Outages

To ensure that our electricity distribution network continues to operate in peak condition, Elexicon Energy conducts important maintenance and construction work that sometimes requires planned power outages.

Effectively immediately, all non-essential planned power outages are suspended until further notice.

Elexicon Energy is committed to providing a reliable hydro system for our customers, and our system controllers and crews work hard to do their part in keeping the power on but sometimes outages are caused by circumstances out of our control. Rest assured, when outages do occur we work hard to restore power as quickly and as safely as possible.
